Overtime must be requested and approved in writing. For overtime in direct connection with regular working hours, the request must be received by management no later than 11:30 on the day the customer wishes to have the overtime work carried out. Pursuant to the current Swedish legislation governing working time, whenever overtime work means that personnel who work overtime are forced to postpone the start of their next working day (and thus take compensatory time off), this time is also charged according to the timework tariff.

Waiting times are charged according to this tariff for timework. Waiting time is based on the time at which it was formally agreed that the work would start and runs until the work has commenced or the period of guarantee has expired. The minimum charge is one hour per person.

For work carried out outside regular working hours, overtime compensation is charged according to the applicable timework tariff for the driver in question. The minimum charge is one hour per vehicle.

Chargeable time is counted from the time the machine leaves the port area until the time it returns.

The company provides crane attendants, grab buckets and crane hooks. Ystad Hamn Logistik AB acquires other personnel or materials required for the crane at the customer's expense.

The customer is obliged to compensate for damage which, during the use of the crane on behalf of the client, may be caused to person, goods or materials unless the damage has been proven to have been caused by the crane operator's negligence.

Ystad Hamn Logistik AB is not responsible for costs or damages incurred by the customer or third parties as a result of the port's crane not being made available or being otherwise impossible to use.

If the crane capacity is substantially below normal due to handling of damaged, displaced or poorly stowed cargo or due to poor reception or delivery conditions, an hourly fee is charged for the crane and personnel.

All waiting time is charged.

When an operator uses its own loading or unloading equipment in the port area, both pre- and post-inspection of the used area must always be carried out. A joint inspection is conducted during regular working hours. The operator must provide immediate compensation for tampering and/or damage discovered during post-inspection. Where the damage entails costs for third parties, they must also be compensated by the operator.
